About us

Members of the Permaculture network of Sicily, members of the Accademia Italiana di Permacultura. we've been hosting volunteers in our rural permaculture project since 2011.

We can offer 8 years of experimentation and real results which makes of Saja Project a leading HUB of the Sicilian Permaculture Network, and the main HUB in the area of CATANIA, and is well known in the Italian permaculture network as a model for being one of the most productive and farm oriented projects, obtaining yields and still being a center of active learning and non-formal education for volunteers and other farmers approaching this method of farming and living. We Host all year-round and have been in partnership with universities for research and thesis works.

In our project the guests will learn trough the year depending on the season:

- what Permaculture is and how to live out of farming
- organic farming in all the kinds
- learning the techniques of Market Gardening - bio-intensive faming
- how to grow your own food
- how to grow and use Spirulina
- how to cook the food that you produce and how to store it and preserve it
- how it is like to be living in a small farming community
- how to harvest, prune and care of fruit trees and vegetables
- sustainable water management
- how to elaborate good quality compost and fertilizers
- how to feed the soil in order to feed humanity

- how to swim in a pond
- how sweet blood oranges can be!

What we expect from trainee

We would like to work in synergy with a trainee which is really interested into farming and community living since for us it's about sharing our intimate space working all together as a Farming Community Project! We expect respect of the common spaces and of all the beings living in that space which is home to a young family with a kid and a group of friends working each one on one specific topic of the project.
